

People and Community

Internal Medicine Doc Raising Money through Exercise

When it comes to helping those less fortunate, Hoan Pho, M.D. is living the Methodist Healthcare mission of, “serving humanity to honor God.” Pho, an internal medicine physician, is using triathlon competition to help raise money for various causes in the community. During his last race, he was successful in raising over $2,000. Helping those in need is his “WHY.”

Dr. Pho also maintains “Healthy Living,” a wellness website and blog (www.drphowellness.com) where he offers advice on nutrition and exercise in order to leave a healthier existence.